<td>Women Make Peace</td>
<td>The Women of Peace Movement, the largest regional movement in Israel today with over 30,000 members, is a non-partisan organization. In the movement, there is a youth club which provides a variety of young men and women with the opportunity to act for their voices and to create a change in the field of gender equality in the political-security sphere and in promoting peace processes. The organization also operates a student club that meets regularly, creating projects that raise awareness through discussion and publicity. https://www.facebook.com/groups/282039175639116</td>

<td>Young Women Politicians</td>
<td>Young Women Politicians is a program that seeks to encourage, strengthen and increase the number of women in politics. The program, which operates on leading campuses in Israel and addresses students aged 22-35, specializes in providing solutions to young women interested in politics. The program includes eye-to-eye meetings with women engaged in politics at the national and local levels, providing knowledge and tools on key issues on the public agenda, strengthening self-confidence, speaking in front of an audience, conducting tours and creating a mature network and quality connections that will guide the participants in the future. https://www.facebook.com/youngpoliticiansrael</td>

| Prowoman         | Prowoman was founded in 2012 to promote women in the Israeli economy.
The organization invites students from all faculties to participate in weekly meetings with influential women in senior positions in the economy.
The goals of the program are to inspire and motivate students at the beginning of their path and to create a network of contacts with leading women in their fields in order to encourage business and social cooperation. Registration for the third cycle of Ben-Gurion University’s branch is expected to open in September.

| She Codes        | She Codes is a technology community of women, established to compare the number of female software developers to the male software developers in Israel. Among our friends are women who want to learn software development or to retrain professionals in the high-tech field, as well as learn keys needed to develop professionally.
She Codes contributes both to the professional development and to the personal development of its participants.

| Pride Club        | The Pride Club at Ben-Gurion University is a warm home and meeting place for gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgendered and queer on campus and beyond.
The club's activities include social gatherings and are held once every two weeks, as well as preparation for the national seminar that takes place once a year. Based on initiatives of its members, the Pride Club works to increase awareness around campus and offers lectures, panels and culture nights. In addition, the Pride Club of Ben-Gurion University of the Negev is working together with the proud house in Be’er Sheva to create a safe environment for the LGBT community and participate in organizing the Gay Pride Parade in Be’er Sheva. |
